INSTRUCTOR TRAINING GUIDELINES

All perspective officer candidates or current company grade officers will successfully complete North Carolina certification for Fire Instructor Level I. Pro-Board certification for FI-I will suffice in lieu of NC FI-I certification.

All newly certified instructors are required to serve a 3 year probation period prior to being authorized to teach a course by his / herself. During this period, the instructor can teach at organization level and/or under the guidance of a Level II Instructor. The newly certified instructor cannot administer a state certification test.

Upon successful completion of the 3 year probation period, the Level I instructor may apply for Level II instructor status through OSFM.

IN SERVICE INSTRUCTOR TRAINING

In-service instructor training is conducted by OSFM. This program provides instructor upgrades required to maintain instructor credentials. Level II instructors may choose to obtain specialties (Driver Operator – Pumps, Rescue Technician). These specialties will allow the instructor to teach the subject. OSFM is the proponent for all instructor specialties.
